FRIDAY, JULY 9, 1875.

Services at the M. E. Church East Evening.

Union Prayer meeting was held last evening in the M. E. Church. The attendance was large, but rather slow coming in. The services began at 8:15, by the singing "There is a Fountain filled with blood," after which Elder White led in prayer.

Rev. L. Wilson read a selection from Acts 4, calling attention to the result of the descent of the Holy Spirit: "They were filled with the Holy Ghost, and spake the word with boldness." Should we remain ten days in anxious hopes and earnest prayer for the baptism of the Holy Ghost, and our prayers answered, we could not but speak the word with boldness. He believed we were now here of one heart and one mind in asking God to revive his work.

Several brethren were then engaged in prayer, after which Elder White said his mind had been comforted by reflecting on the blessed promise, "I will never leave thee nor forsake thee." If our blessed Redeemer is always with the church he will prosper. If he is with the individual Christian he need fear no evil.

Bro. Stratton said that he had to thank the Lord that he had to-day received an answer to prayer in the conversion of his eldest son. He had written him a letter from Portland, enclosing his Covenant Card, and saying that by the grace of God he meant to be a true and faithful follower of the Lord Jesus Christ. Bro. Stratton continued to say that we must acknowledge mercies already received in answer to prayer, and when we pray for God's glory and no selfish end, we are sure to be heard.

Dr. Gray asked why are not all the people of Albany Christians? Surely there is no want of power in the Holy Spirit of God. There must be fault in us; we are not doing our whole duty as we should.

Rev. Wilson Blair gave an account of his labor as Bible Agent. He had visited several churches and attended several Camp-meetings and found the work of the Lord prospering. All denunciations were becoming less sectarian and more Christian. The coming Sabbath services will see many coming in twelve and fifteen miles to hear the good word of the Lord.

Bro. Dowers urged all to pray for salvation for Albany, not that "our church" should be filled. We have the spirit of unity—we can unite with one heart and one voice in praying for the glory of God and the good of souls.

Father Royal referred to the dying testimony of Father Kelly, and urged all to build on the "rock". The hymn, "Rock of Ages," was then sung.

Bro. Morrison thought we could always have as good a meeting as we had Tuesday evening if we were not so diffident, and all did their duty.

Prof. Warren acknowledged his own shortcomings in not securing the blessing he desired last night. He narrated the circumstance of Whitfield's passing a furlough, and with such earnestness asking a workman, "What does that fire redden your eyes?" that he was converted to God. In his own experience he had been influenced by one who spoke to him kindly and earnestly, urging him to come to Jesus, and saying, "You know your duty, brother—throw it."

Bro. Irvine referred to the fruits of the Spirit, Love, Joy, Peace, etc., as all linked together.

Bro. Stratton told us of Bro. Hammond's golden chain, and urged harmonious, concerted action, if we expect and desire a blessing. He said Christians were like young Oregon fire-wood—one stick will not burn alone, but put several together and you have a brilliant flame and glowing heat.

The meeting adjourned, after singing "All hail the power of Jesus' name," and prayer by brother Irvine.

This evening service will be held in the Baptist church. Let all come expecting a blessing.

S. G.

On the 6th the REGISTER said there was an immense amount of "spirituous and malt liquors" got away with during the day (speaking of the celebration at Junction the day previous), and we are told that Albany people got away with their share. "Some many at once constrains that mean an attack on the fire company, and cheekily requests us to take it back. "We are not one of those." We stick to what we said, because it's fact. We might mention the names of several individuals of this city who have good evidence for believing were foolishly drunk on that occasion, and if they wish their names given to the public, let 'em speak right out.

A FEAST.—We are indebted to James Finlayson, Esq., for a full supply of cherries yesterday—and when we say cherries, we mean those large, luscious kind, such as few in the valley can equal. This "offer" is full and happy, and all how their acknowledgments to Mr. Finlayson for his liberality.

The Grosz came in just before we go to press. She had argued on Peterson's bar where she had all night. In attempting to line off the rope broke, flying back and striking the Mate and one of the deckhands, injuring both somewhat. After a good deal of hard work the boat was got off, and arrived here as above indicated.

Tom Scott is still out of the hands of the vigilantes, and probably always will remain out, as he's too smart to be caught napping.

Miss Anne Bentley left us for Waterloo yesterday.

Mrs. B. F. Walling is at present at her mother's, Mrs. J. B. Comley, very ill.

Mrs. Barr Crooks has gone to Roseburg, visiting relatives.

Eggs have advanced, being quoted at 20c to-day.

Dick Morris drives a truck well, and goes right after it just as though he meant business.

The first load of new hay that we have noticed came in this morning. It is selling at $12 per ton, delivered.

Our postoffice has one hundred and twenty-three lock boxes, and one hundred and twenty-five glass boxes.

"If you want moderately difficult piano music, send for Peters' Parlor Music, published by J. L. Peters, New York, at $4 per annum.

LOST.—A baby's gold shoulder-pin, on which was engraved in capitals of German text, "Baby". The finder will confer a favor by leaving it at this office and getting his reward.

The Success made her wharf in this city at 9:15 this morning. She scraped bottom in several places, but was compelled to line only at the mouth of Santiam. She brought up thirty tons of freight.

THE HOUSEHOLD MAGAZINE.—For July, is another excellent number. It will always be a cause of wonder how such a splendid magazine can be issued for so little money—one dollar per year. Send to Household Publishing Company, 41 Park Row, New York.

SATURDAY, JULY 10, 1875.

Mr. Gray, of Halsey, called to-day.

Mrs. P. C. Harper is in very poor health.

There is considerable enquiry for girls to do housework.

Miss Lucy Claypool returned from her visit South to-day, in splendid health.

The Grangers are erecting a fine warehouse in Halsey.

STRENGTH COURTS.—Meets at Salem on Monday, July 10th.

Mr. Thompson, of Halsey, has been paying 25¢ a pound for wool during the week, which beats our folks one cent.

The recent assay of ore taken from the new Checkamas quartz shows: Gold per ton, $2 34; silver per ton, $18 60—total yield, $20 94.

A GLOUBIOUS MEETING.—Was held at the Baptist church last evening. The house was well filled, and all seemed to enjoy the meeting so thoroughly that they were in no hurry to go home.

A telegram from Alieu Parker received by his wife to-day, dated Liverpool, July 10th, informs her of his good health and spirits, and that he will start for home in a few days.

The Liverpool wheat market is quoted as having advanced slightly, owing to the unpropitious weather that has prevailed in the United Kingdom for a few days past. Average Pacific coast wheat is quoted at 95c on the spot.

ICE CREAM.—Mr. J. E. Smith has erected his tent near the Court House, where he will dispense ice cream to all who wish it this evening. He proposes to run the ice cream business during next week at the same place.

FROST CAMP POLK.—Mr. Hindman brought in nearly two hundred deer skins, besides furs, such as beaver, Coyote and wild cat. His boy, a few days ago, killed three deer at one shot. At another time the same boy has secured another deer. It is a splendid country for game, is Camp Polk.

A splendid bridge across Muddy, 2 1/2 miles west of Halsey, is about completed. The bridge is 78 feet in length, covered, with graded and gravelled roadway at each end some thirty-five feet. Joseph Lane is the builder, and it is pronounced a good job. Cost $700, independent of the grades—one-half paid by the citizens, balance by the county.

COMPLIMENTARY.—We to-day acknowledge the receipt of an invitation from Willamette Engine Co. No. 1, to attend the 23d anniversary of the Company, which transpires on the 31 of August next, at the hall of the Company in Portland. There isn't anything we would enjoy more, and if we can so arrange it we'll be among the Onesters on that occasion.

A BARBAIN.—The Messrs. Nichols, of this city are in luck. They have purchased the farm owned by the late Hon. David Logan, two miles south of McMinnville, Yamhill county, containing 320 acres, for the sum of $12,500, growing crops and all. There is 85 acres of wheat, 25 acres of oats, and 25 acres of timothy to be harvested, while of the balance 105 acres have been well summer-fallowed. The buildings on the place are of the best kind, erected about three years since at a cost of $5,500. The boys have secured a bargain, sure.

THE RECEPTION.—Given at the Opera House last evening by Mr. and Mrs. Barnhart, who had just returned from their wedding tour, was a very pleasant affair. The brass band was in attendance, doing some excellent music. After dancing a couple of sets, the guests to the number of about twenty couple, formed in "two ranks" and marched to the residence of the bride's father, Mr. R. Cheedie, where an elegant supper had been spread, to which ample justice was done. It was a gay and pleasant occasion, long to be remembered by all the participants.

SURVEY COMPLETED.—The survey of the Corvallis & Yaquina Bay Railroad has just been completed, and the terminus at Alderwater located at McLain's Point.

The distance from Corvallis by the surveyed route is sixty-one and a half miles. This is somewhat longer than we had been led to believe would be the length of the road, but it is said this distance can be shortened three or four miles. The people of the Bay are specially elated at this "starter," and are already dreaming of fortunes to be received for "corner lots" in the new city to be built at the terminus. Success to the enterprise, say we.

PUT THE MONEY WHERE 'T WILL DO THE MOST GOOD.—The fact that the Upper Willamette is unavailing for light draught steamboats at a very low stage of water, has been thoroughly established by the Ohio. Boats properly built can reach this city at any season of the year, and if proper dredging be done and a few obstructions removed at different points, the Willamette could be rendered navigable as far as Eugene. A sufficient amount of money have been expended judiciously in dredging and snag pulling on the Upper Willamette, and boats of the right model and draught will be built, and they will do all the freighting required on the Upper Willamette, and at such figures as will prove remunerative to the farmer and to steamboat proprietors.

A NARROW ESCAPE FROM INSTANT DEATH.—Dr. D. M. Jones was out at Tangent yesterday making professional calls, and was detained until the regular train on the O. & C. Railroad had passed. Being anxious to come home he secured a hand-car, and Messrs. Ambrose Beard, Jerry Cochran, David Spangler and another gentleman whose name we did not learn, volunteered to man the craft. The hand-car and its freight arrived here all right, and leaving Dr. Jones, the boys started back with the car about 10 o'clock. Mr. Beard, who had blistered his hands somewhat with the unusual exercise of turning the crank on the car, was again at the crank, holding his thumbs parallel with his fingers to save his blistered hands, thus having no grip at all on the handle of the crank, when his hands slipped off and he fell forward, the revolving crank striking him in its revolution midway of the body and throwing him clear in front of the car. Fortunately they were just passing over the trestlework that spanned a little stream, and young Beard was precipitated headfirst between the ties, the car coming up in time to catch and pass over one foot which struck the iron rail as he descended. Had the accident happened a few feet either way from where it did, Mr. Beard would have been instantly killed. As it is he sustained only a few bruises and contusions. He was in the biggest kind of luck, and should be correspondingly thankful.

MONDAY, JULY 12, 1875.

FIXED.—Two fights Saturday evening. Parties arrested and fined, adding about $30 to the city treasury.

Rev. Mr. Hammond's sermon at the Court House last night was clear, forcible, and carried conviction to the hearts of many who heard him.

The music at the Court House yesterday was undoubtedly the finest sacred music ever rendered in Albany.

There is still some stock to be taken in the fruit drying enterprise recently inaugurated at Shedd, but confidence is expressed in the belief that it will all be grabbed up, and the enterprise finished right along.

PUBLIC CHAIRS.—Those wishing to procure the celebrated Metzler chair, will take notice that none are Genuine unless the name J. M. METZLER appears on the back of each chair. 44 1/2.

EXTRA TRAIN.—An extra train passed down to Portland this morning on board of which were quite a number of California celebrities, among them Gov. Stanford, Gen. Dan'l. Colton, Mr. Cunningham, and others. J. J. Constock was also on board.

REPORTED SHOT.—A report reached us this morning that Abe Irvine, of Lebanon, who has been up in the mountains some days, has been shot. We didn't learn whether the shot was accidental or otherwise, or whether the wound was serious.

A large number of people are in the city from Corvallis, Lebanon, Shedd, Jefferson, Portland, and other places, in attendance on the revival meetings now in progress in this city under the guidance of Mr. Hammond.

According to report a team ran off somewhere on the opposite side of the Willamette, on Saturday, pretty badly using the driver of the team, breaking his knee-cap, and tearing the calf of the leg badly. We forgot the name.

The children's meeting at the Court House yesterday was one of the best we ever attended. A large number of adults as well as children made a profession of religion, while others promised to devote the balance of their lives to the service of Jesus.

Mr. Hammond's great power lies in his readiness to Christ, and his method of conducting a revival. He manages to keep all Christians at work, and knows how to gain the confidence of sinners.

John Schmor is not only a first-class baker, and keeps a good assortment of groceries, but he's on the horse trade as big as a skinned elephant—and he's hard to get away with, too.

REV. E. PATSON HAMMOND IN ALBANY.

The Court house was well filled at Rev. Mr. Hammond's first meeting in this city last Saturday night. The hymn commenced:

"Teach us, O Lord, how weak we are,
That all our strength is vain;
That only by the spirit's power,
The work revives again."

was lined by Mr. Hammond and sung by the congregation. Mr. Hammond immediately drew the attention of the congregation from himself to the Lord of Hosts, the source of all power, by repeating the words written above the 105th page in the Song of Solomon, "Not by might, nor by power, but by my spirit, saith the Lord of Hosts." He then read part of the 1st and 2d chapters of Acts, and urged all present to seek earnestly for the baptism of the Holy Ghost. Revivals must be prayed down, not "gotten up." He spoke of the wonderful revival now in progress in Portland, and said we may have just such a one in Albany.

Announcements were then made for services on Sunday as follows: Prates meeting in the Court House at 9 1/2 o'clock A. M.; children's mass meeting at 2 1/2 o'clock P. M.; union services at night.

Long before the morning hour the house was filled, and services were commenced by singing, after which several short prayers were offered for the blessing of God on the services of the day.

Mr. Wakefield, of Portland, spoke of the wonderful conversion of Zed Wilson, formerly a leading rowdy in this county. He said Zed Wilson gives good evidence of a sound conversion. He had been thoroughly tested both by his wicked companions and the church; and all were satisfied that there is a marvelous change in the man. He sent word to his old associates in wickedness, in the city of Albany and Linn county, to repent and give their hearts to God. Jesus can save the chief of sinners if he will come to Him.

Mr. Jackson, of Portland, said he came to this coast 24 years ago, but lived in situ until about eight years ago, when he was led to Christ through the influence of his little son, who said to him, "Pa, do you know that all we need to make our home happy is for you to become a Christian. If Annie, and you, and me, and our were all Christians, oh, our home would be so happy." This appeal touched his heart, and led him to the Savior. The speaker appealed to the young men in the congregation to cease to do evil; reform their lives, and they would find many friends to take them by the hand and lift them up. He showed clearly the great value of a good moral character in business life, and urged all to take hold in these meetings with Mr. Hammond.

The most interesting and profitable meeting yet held was the children's meeting in the afternoon. Notwithstanding the intense heat, the Court House was crowded to its utmost capacity. The singing led by Prof. Warren and Mr. Wyatt, was perfectly grand. Mr. Hammond read about the crucifixion of our Lord, and feelingly explained to the children the awful suffering and death of Christ for us.

The children and young people were greatly affected when he told them how Jesus had been crowned with thorns, and buffeted; how he sweat, as "twere, great drops of blood, and was afterwards nailed to the tree—and all this suffering was to save sinners. He related many anecdotes beautifully illustrating his subject, and which helped to lead the children to the "Lamb of God which taketh away the sin of the world."

An inquiry meeting was held at the close of Mr. Hammond's remarks, and faithful, earnest workers went among the children to talk and pray with them. About fifty of the children and young people, upon invitation, went upon the platform, signifying that they hoped Jesus had pardoned all their sins and adopted them into His family.

It was a glorious time, and the tears could be seen trickling down the cheek of many a stern man, who, perhaps, had not had his heart so softened, since childhood. A number of people professed to have found Jesus, while others declared their intention to seek until they found Him.

The meeting at night was largely attended, and held until a late hour. It was a happy occasion, and many promised to make a new start for the heavenly land.

The meeting this morning was well attended, and the cause is marching on.

We cannot close this report without speaking of the music. There are two organs, a piano, tuba, bass viol, cornet and violin, inside the railing next the Judges seat in the Court House, to assist the one hundred or more voices that form the choir, and the music made by that vast number, aided by the different musical instruments, all in the hands of artists, is indescribably grand. We never heard anything to excel it anywhere.

The Metzler chair having achieved so great a reputation, everybody got to manure factoring and selling the "Metzler chair." John didn't like this, so he has gone to work and put his name on all the chairs he makes. No other kind genuine.

RAIN.—A gentleman who has kept a record of the weather for three years past, informs us that from June 25th, 1874, to June 25th, 1875, there were one hundred and thirty-nine days in which rain fell—very light rain, however, on a great many of the days.

Mrs. Katie Protzman, of Portland, is at present visiting relatives and friends in this city.

C. P. Hogue, of Shedd, spent Saturday and Sunday in this city.

BROKE JAIL.—Early this morning the two prisoners confined in the county jail for larceny in a dwelling house, Frank Schofield and John Klein, made their escape. The cells are in the center of the jail, with a hall on the sides and west end. A brick wall goes up from the outside of the cells to the floor above. The cells do not reach as high as the floor above, so that there is a space of nearly two feet between the tops of the cells and the floor above. The prisoners were in the hall; by standing on something sufficiently high to reach the rear wall above the cells, they pulled out the brick until they had made a hole large enough to crawl through. They then proceeded to the front wall, pulled out the brick, got out on the stairway, marched down to the open front door and decamped. The Sheriff Irvine, coming into the city from his farm early this morning, saw a bareheaded man running toward the eastern side of the city, which excited his suspicions, and after making inquiry of parties near by, who remarked they expected it was one of the jail-birds, he gave pursuit, chasing the fellow into the brush near the river bank in the eastern end of the city; but not knowing certainly that the man was an escaped jail-bird, he gave up the pursuit at that point, and returned to the city to inform himself. As soon as the Sheriff was informed of the escape, he with several others started in pursuit, with what success, we have not learned at this hour.

Two gentlemen came into the city this morning, and hearing that Mr. Hammond was conducting a revival meeting at the Court House, they drove up, hitched, and went into the Court House. After sitting a few minutes, listening attentively to the services, Mr. Hammond arose to address the congregation, when one of the gentlemen hurriedly left the room. The expression on his face, and the hurried manner of his leaving, alarmed his companion, who hastened after him to find out what was the matter. On reaching the vehicle which they had left in front of the Court House, the gentleman who had left in so unceremonious and hurried a manner, was found, apparently cool and serene. Upon enquiring, it came out that it was not a conviction of his sin and unworthiness that had sent him so hurriedly down stairs, but the remembrance that in his hurry to attend the services he had forgotten a package containing several hundred dollars, which lay in plain view upon the buggy seat.

RUBBER PAINT.—Messrs. Bell & Parker are agents for the "Rubber Paint," said to be the best in the world. The points claimed for this paint are, its cheapness, a given quantity covering more surface than any other; its durability, as no climate or weather affects it; its great body, forming a coat firm and strong, at the same time so adhesive and elastic that it will not peel off or crack; retains its color better than any other paint, and brings out colors with more brilliancy and effect; it retains a beautiful gloss and presents the finest possible finish. These are a few of the points advanced in favor of Rubber Paint; many more might be given. Any color you wish can be obtained. The paint comes in quart, gallon and five gallon cans, already mixed for use. You can obtain the Rubber Paint at the drug store of Messrs. Bell & Parker on First street, where those who are in need of paint should call and see the paint and the testimonials of those who have used it.

THE BUENA VISTA TRAGEDY.—The inquest over the bodies of W. F. Tubbs and Mary Josephine Tubbs, held at Buena Vista on the 4th inst., only developed the facts that intemperance and jealousy were the cause of Tubbs' killing himself and wife. Tubbs had been married eight months and fifteen days. It was in testimony that Tubbs had often accused his wife of infidelity, and had repeatedly whipped her, witness having seen the bruises on her body caused by the whippings. The Statesman, from which we get the above, says that after the inquest a note was found under the pillow of the murdered wife, evidently put there hastily by the husband after he had shot his wife. Following is a copy of the note:

BUENA VISTA, July 4, 1875.
My Christian friends: All farewell. I want you all to meet me in glory. I married this woman to live in peace together. If we can't live together, we can die together.
W. F. T.
M. J. F. T.

The above being the initials of both his own and wife's name in full.
